The Chattanooga Chronicle says the puddlers at the Vulcan Mill now receive $5.00 per ton instead of $4.25, the wages heretofore paid them.

The first dance to be given by the H. T. and K. K. Club will be at the Lamar House to-morrow, Thursday night. A splendid affair may be looked for.

The Odd Fellows' Silver Cornet Band propose to furnish a little open air serenade to-night, beginning about a quarter before nine o'clock, from the Custom House.

Not much interest is being manifested down this way in the hanging at Morristown next Friday. There is evidently a more civilized era dawning upon us in regard to such public spectacles of horror.

The hotels and boarding-houses are all pretty well filled up again with yellow fever refugees, who have returned from the mountain resorts, and will remain here till they are granted permission to return to their homes.

Says the Atlanta Constitution, of Tuesday: "R. A. Hemphill left yesterday for East Tennessee, to be absent several days. Being unable to supply the large demand for his butter, he goes to make arrangements for a full supply." Mr. Hemphill was in our city yesterday.

The work of rebuilding the Condon block, corner building, on the corner of Gay and Reservoir streets, has been commenced, and will be pushed rapidly to completion. This is the building which was formerly occupied by Shea & Donahoe, and was burned down several months since.

The latest information yesterday from Capt. Tip, Elmore, the freight conductor who was hurt by his caboose being thrown from the track, near Limestone, was that he was still very sore from the bruises received, but his injuries are not thought to be serious. He still remains there under treatment.

The old stand of Mr. E. C. Locke, on our side of Market Square, is being fitted up for occupancy by Gossett, Ford & Brother. The front stairway has been taken out, to give more room, and the room will be given an attractive appearance. Mr. Locke has occupied the room under the CHRONICLE, recently vacated by Dawes & Jackson.

M.ried.
Last night, at the residence of the bride's mother, on Grove street, Rev. G. C. Rankin officiating, Mr. J. O. Lotsepch and Miss Ida S. Meek, all of this city.

After receiving the congratulations of friends, and enjoying a magnificent supper, spread by Mrs. Meek, mother of the bride, the happy pair took the 11 o'clock train for Greenville, where they will pass the honeymoon, taking in the fair and visiting among friends.

Mr. Lotsepch is an energetic and rising young business man of our city, now connected with Smith & Bondurant. The bride is a charming and attractive young lady, recently from Jonesboro', and quite popular in Knoxville society circles.

The newly wedded couple have our best wishes for their prosperity and happiness in the future. Mrs. Meek has the thanks of the CHRONICLE force for a nice treat of cream and cake.

From Yesterday's Second Edition. WATER WORKS.

Opening of the Bids for Their Erection and Construction.

The reception of bids for the construction of the Knoxville Water Works was closed at 7 o'clock last night, and at half-past seven o'clock a meeting was held at the City Hall, for the purpose of opening the same. There were assembled there, the Water Works Commissioners, the representatives of various companies bidding, and, by special invitation, the Mayor and Board of Aldermen, to witness the operation.

The box containing the sealed bids was brought up by Mr. John S. Van Gilder, President of the Board of Water Works Commissioners, and they were opened and read by Mayor Luttrell.

Fourteen bids in all were found to have been made. The first proposition taken out was that of the Cincinnati and Newport Pipe Company, John W. Rutherford, selling agent. Their proposition was to furnish the pipe required, laid down in Knoxville, at $38.50 per ton, and the special castings at $55.00 per ton.

Dennis Long & Co., Louisville, Ky., propose to furnish pipe at $38.60 per ton, and special castings at 2 1/2 cents per pound.

R. D. Wood & Co., Philadelphia, Pa., propose to furnish all the material and put the work up according to specifications, complete, (with some changes noted) for the sum of $30,550.

John Condon, Knoxville, bid on all the masonry and dirt removing, contemplated in the plan, for prices stipulated, but the proposition is too lengthy to admit of itemizing.

W. B. McDonough & Co., Knoxville, propose to furnish all the material and construct the works complete for $74,000.

The Geo. F. Blake Manufacturing Co., Boston, Mass., propose to furnish their improved engine, two million gallons capacity, for $6,980, or of one million gallons capacity, $3,500.

MacRitchie & Mitchell, Chicago, Ill., propose to furnish the material and do all the work, complete, for $91,800.

The Cope & Maxwell Manufacturing Company, Cincinnati, Ohio, proposes to furnish engines and boilers, according to specifications, for $7,500, or deduct $500 if plain jackets are used. Or, as a second proposition, to furnish a pair of their improved engines and boilers, &c., for the sum of $8,700.

I. S. Casin & Co., Philadelphia, Pa., make a proposition on valves, fire hydrants, nozzles, &c.

Hutchison & Alexander, Alleghany, Pa., bid on fire hydrants and stop gates.

The Mohawk and Hudson Manufacturing Company, Watford, N. Y., bid on eddy valves, &c.

The three above named give the figures in lengthy detail.

The Holly Manufacturing Company, of Atlanta, Ga., propose furnishing their Holly engine, boilers, etc., complete, for $10,000; furnish and put in position all the piping, hydrants, castings, etc., for $61,340; or, both together, for $70,000. (This is all the work needed except the building of the reservoir and engine house, which they say they can not do.) They also propose to lay all the piping, etc., it being furnished, for $18,875.

The Watertown Steam Engine Co., Watertown, N. Y., propose to furnish the engine, boilers, pumps, etc., complete, for about $11,000.

Gustavus A. Warweese proposes to furnish the engine, put in working order, etc., for $11,750.

This closed the list of bids, and the Commissioners adjourned to meet at the same place at 8 o'clock this morning, when it will be decided and announced what parties are the successful bidders.

Third Game of Ten Pins.
The third game of ten pins between the rival teams of the city was played last night, at the alley at the Northern terminus of the street railway, in which the Gay street team came out victors by 68 pins. The following is the score of the game:

Custom House Team.—J. M. Melton, 518; D. T. Hickey, 309; J. A. Greer, 253; H. C. Squire, 233; W. H. Collett, 327; H. H. Brandon, 243. Total, 1,691.

Gay Street Team.—S. B. Dow, 278; M. L. Bates, 308; R. S. Ruley, 303; J. E. Lutz, 276; F. L. Fisher, 301; E. W. Kratoch, 201. Total, 1,757.

There being no definite understanding between the teams as to whether it should be the two best in three or a majority of points, both teams claim the game. The Gay street boys are two to one in number of games played, and the Custom House team 110 ahead in points made, and there it rests.

Not 10 Pins But 110 Pins

Is the game the Custom House boys played over the Gay Street team. It seems from the Dispatch that the Gay Street team themselves are not satisfied that they are the "victors," or else the report given by a representative from both teams and published in yesterday's CHRONICLE would have been sufficient, without having published the challenge, which shows most conclusively that the number of games to be played to be agreed upon afterwards, which could not have been less than nine games, as that was the number played, and all parties seemed to understand that it was the close of the contest; the keeper of the alley receiving pay for nine games, instead of three. Now, if it is games the Gay Street team want to rely upon, then the Custom House team were victors in five out of the nine. If they rely upon the pins, then the Custom House team are 110 pins ahead; but, in all our playing upon the alley, the greatest number of pins were counted, and not the games.

Two of Custom House Team.

An Interesting Marriage.

MR. EDITOR: It was the good fortune of your correspondent to attend the wedding of Mr. C. A. Murphy and Miss Anna Karner, at the residence of William Fowler, Esq., in Sevierville, on the 9th inst. Quite an interesting ceremony was pronounced by Rev. Frank Richardson, of the M. P. Church, South. The young couple had invited a select number of the special friends of both sexes. No pains had been spared by Mr. and Mrs. Fowler that would add to the enjoyment of the many guests, and so permanently did everything pass off, and so jubilant were the friends who had assembled to see the young bride and groom begin their life as one, even Elder Richardson, with all the gravity of a great minister, occasionally lost his dignity and joined heartily in the general merriment of the evening. After the ceremony was over, and the usual hand shaking and kissing had been gone through with, the order was given for a general march to the dining room. What a feast we did have. The supper which Mrs. Fowler had prepared showed plainly that she had been expecting something of the kind to take place at her house for some time. After enjoying ourselves till a late hour, we dispersed, only to meet again next day at the residence of Mr. W. C. Murphy, just across the street, to have another grand festival and merry time.

Miss Karner, or rather Mrs. Murphy, is a native of Philadelphia, Tenn. She is a sister-in-law of Mr. Fowler, and while here on a visit that Charlie first met her. She is a charming young lady, one of those rare gems of female character that are always appreciated and loved where they are known, and it was not until young Murphy had vanquished quite a number of rivals that he was able to bear off the prize. They begin life with the good wishes and pleasant anticipations of many warm friends.

Good bye Charlie and Annie, we will all miss you in the gay circle of unmarried life, but we who have not yet trod the path of marital love feel that yours is a better lot.

May you both live long and happy, and add another bright testimonial to the felicity of wedded life.

SEVIERVILLE, SEPT. 20, 1879.

Grassy Valley News.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Sept. 22, 1879. MR. EDITOR: Notwithstanding the extreme dry weather, vegetation in this valley looks remarkably well, and the educational, religious and agricultural interests are bright and promising. Farmers are breaking their wheat land twice, and with old-breakers and harrows, they are thoroughly pulverizing the soil, thus rendering it a fit receptacle for the precious seed. Our farmers have at last reached the true theory of sowing wheat. I believe if all would do as they are now doing in this valley, keep plowing, old-breaking and harrowing, until there was not a clod as big as an apple in the field, that there would be an abundant crop, at no expense, as is produced by the most costly fertilizing without this thorough cultivation. Let us think of this in the future.

Our school is now in the midst of an interesting session, with as hard-working a class of students as I have ever taught. And, as a just compliment to friends of education in this part of our country, I take pleasure in saying I never have taught a school in any part of this county where the school was visited by so many strangers, friends and school officials. Our register of visitors shows persons from many parts of East Tennessee. This I regard as one of the best evidences of an intelligent and progressive community that could have been exhibited. I speak of this to encourage others to engage in this very necessary work, which is much neglected by many of our citizens.

A society has been organized at Fancy Hill, called the "Webster Lyceum," for literary purposes, during the fall and winter, with Mr. Howard Anderson, President, John Cole, Vice-President, William Edmondson, Secretary, and John Kirk, Treasurer. The membership and interest is increasing weekly. The first public entertainment under the auspices will begin on Thursday night, the 2nd of October. The citizens everywhere are invited to be present.

The Rev. Mr. Cash recently closed a very interesting meeting, which he had been conducting at Murphy's Chapel, M. E. Church, South. He is a high-minded, broad-spirited, noble, philanthropic Christian gentleman, and is doing a good work in his church. He was ably assisted by the Rev. Mr. Carver, of Knoxville. Rev. Mr. Harris, son of S. K. Harris, of this valley. The latter gentleman left a few days ago to attend some fine college in New York State, to spend another year in some special training which will do much to his culture.

Mr. Rush Murphy left recently to enter Estman's Business College, at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., on the Hudson. A letter, since entering upon the course of a study in the College, shows that he was delighted with the scenery of the trip and is enjoying himself in royal study. We most heartily congratulate him upon his good fortune.

We were pained to attend a few days ago the funeral of the child of Mr. Alexander French, of this neighborhood. In thus having to give up their darling babe, so dear unto them, they have the sympathy of all our people.

Mrs. George Lawer, who died recently, was buried in Hind's Valley, at the old Tindall family burying ground. Her funeral was largely attended by relatives and friends.

A review concert is to be given at Corinth Church, on the first Sunday night in October, to be conducted by the children of the Corinth and Fancy Hill Sunday Schools. The music classes of the surrounding schools are invited to attend and participate in the exercises. We anticipate some fine music on this occasion. A union prayer meeting and song service is being carried forward at this church by members of various churches who reside in this neighborhood. We think a very salutary religious influence will permeate the community as the result of Christian fraternity and union.

Mr. Frank Murphy has gone into business in the city again.
